IT'S A RIVERDALE HIGH REUNION . . . AND JOSIE AND THE PUSSYCATS ARE ABOUT TO BRING THE HOUSE DOWN!

The groundbreaking return of the most joyous comic book icon of all continues as New York Times bestselling writer and Eisner Award nominee Ben H. Winters (EC's Cruel Universe, The Last Policeman Trilogy) and multiple Eisner Award-winning artist Fábio Moon (Daytripper, Casanova) reveal the interlocking past lives of Riverdale's elder generation—and just what they might mean for Archie Andrews's future—in a party for the ages!

It's reunion weekend at Riverdale High, and Archie is playing waiter—all while gathering wisdom from returning alumni about how to lead a life well lived. "You always have to make sure you're living in the moment and having fun. You don't want to look back on what you missed! But also! Don't forget, you need to work hard or you'll never get anywhere." Thanks for delivering the ultimate contradiction! With a looming date night and a crushing academic deadline, Archie's newfound ideals will soon be put to the test. Does he have what it takes to make the next step toward adulthood? Will Jughead eat all the hamburgers before they make it to the guests? Will Josie and the Pussycats play an encore?!

These are the pressing questions of our generation . . . and all will be answered as the year's must-read new ongoing series greets a new day!

So you've landed the dream job and the dream boyfriend. Everything should be perfect . . . right?

Ben Cook seems to have it all. An awesome new cooking job at Cochon Doré, a steady writing gig, amazing roommates, and—best of all—super-dreamy boyfriend, Liam. But between the pressures of the growing restaurant, looming writing deadlines, and nosy parents, Ben is worried about making sure everything is perfect in his new relationship with Liam. When Ben can't quite figure out the perfect Halloween couples costume or the perfect Christmas plans, and Liam gets more and more overwhelmed with all the new responsibilities at Cochon, the new couple starts to grow distant rather than rely on each other. From Joëlle Jones (Catwoman, Helheim) and Jamie S. Rich (It Girl and the Atomics, Archer Coe), the creators of Lady Killer, comes a new edition of their noir classic You Have Killed Me!

Private investigator Antonio Mercer is no stranger to trouble—sometimes the kind that involves an attractive dame . . . and sometimes the kind that involves fists. But Mercer may finally be in over his head when he agrees to take a case from the sister of his former flame, who has gone missing. What awaits him isn't just trouble, but a tapestry of family discord, unsavory business associates, and—most unfortunately—a few murders.

Featuring a brand-new cover and an afterword from writer Jamie S. Rich, You Have Killed Me brings forth the danger and thrill of traditional noir classics such as The Long Goodbye and Chinatown.

Be careful. It's a rough-and-tumble world you're stepping into here. But remember what Mercer said: "Even if it leaves a mark, you've got a new anecdote."

In a not-too-distant future, climate change continues to ravage the planet, and the disappearance of insects has led to the end of pollination, rendering vast areas of land infertile. A survival dynamic has emerged—mobile islands called “monads” have formed, and people strive to help each other; each group with its own customs, traditions, and ways of life.

Jenny is a rather solitary researcher trying to restore the world as it once was. She seeks to recover bee DNA to clone and re-create pollinating insects. However, she will come to realize that this is impossible—the old world no longer exists, and a new one must be built. She will understand that instead of looking to the past, she must work collectively with other monad tribes, prioritizing mutual aid and collaboration.

Created by multiple-award-winning comics wunderkind Mathieu Bablet (Shangri-La, Carbon & Silicon), Silent Jenny is, at its heart, a “world-building book”—inventing vehicles, character factions, landscapes, and crafting this universe down to the smallest detail to make it as tangible as possible. An optimistic story that presents solutions to climate change—no eco-anxiety, just hope and innovation.

WRITER/ARTIST/COVER JONATHAN DJOB NKONDO

Cartoonist and animator Jonathan Djob Nkondo (Scavenger's Reign) weaves a visionary story following the wandering paths of two men, each shaped by their respective environments—one in the arid wastelands above, and one in the urban sprawl below the surface.

Though they never meet, their lives mirror and resonate with each other, creating a haunting sense of synchronicity and missed connection. Set in a world where the surface has become a vast, arid desert dotted with strange geometric creatures and billabongs, Wandering imagines a society that has retreated underground. Beneath the scorched crust, life continues in sprawling subterranean complexes—theaters, malls, food courts, and highway interchanges—forming a claustrophobic echo of the world above.

Themes of alienation, routine, freedom, and the trappings of modern life turn this textless, nonlinear, and atmospheric graphic novel into an unsettling contemplation of the trappings we choose to surround ourselves with.

WRITER/ARTIST/COVER FLORENT MAUDOUX

A titanic battle against a team of super-good guys, a deadly curse, tango lessons, and a descent into Hell . . .

Florent Maudoux's madcap hero college series continues, and things get even crazier! Chance, Xiong Mao, and Shadow certainly didn't expect this when they signed up for Hero University! And to think they're only first-year students . . . At a time when the rivalry between Saint-Ange's school and the Facility of Extracurricular Academic Heroism (FEAH) has never been stronger, they'll not only have to fight to stay alive but also do everything they can to boost their popularity! Especially since, in the eyes of the world, it seems like they're the bad guys in the story . . .

At FEAH, students Chance, Xiong Mao, and Shadow will discover the joys of university life, the ruthless competition between students, sadistic professors, and the stress of exams. At this university, special individuals learn how to manage their powers as well as their public image, both necessary to obtain a superhero license . . . Whether through the use of supernatural magic or special genetic features, the students have a lot of history to overcome, both personal and social.
